

Breast reconstruction. It matters.

Ashleigh

Joanna

Jenny

Pauline

At LifeCell, we know the importance breast reconstruction can play in the restoration of the emotional and physical well-being of your patients. This is why we've dedicated ourselves to bringing choice back to a time when there hasn't been any, and hope back to women who are in need of it.

These women all made a choice about their breast reconstruction. Partnering with LifeCell means that you can ensure your patients can make an informed choice too.

We created the 'Breast Reconstruction Choices Tool Kit' to provide you with medical- and patient-facing materials, such as patient testimonials and descriptions of available techniques, to help you in your conversations with your patients. Request one from your LifeCell Business Manager today.

For more information on your patients' options, and for real stories of how breast reconstruction matters to other women, please visit www.breastreconstructionmatters.co.uk and speak with your LifeCell Business Manager.